The unusually early killing frost was the earliest we've had since we began collecting weather data in 1906. Two consecutive lows of 27° took their toll of gardens, some late corn and struck hard at soybeans.

It's difficult to come up with a realistic appraisal of soybean losses. We can expect smaller beans, wrinkled condition of immature beans, some discoloration and we may expect higher than usual shattering. The damage to beans will speed up harvesting dates. In so far as germination is concerned, I don't know. If you are planning to save some beans for seed, you should collect a sample and have the germination checked. If the germination is low, you might as well consider marketing them.

There are reports that garden seed will be higher priced next spring and some varieties may be in short supply.

This is a good time to get onions planted.

Many home gardeners report excellent yields of sweet potatoes.

Within the past week several gardeners have said that they have experienced extreme difficulty in controlling the harlequin bug. This is the orange and black insect that feeds on cabbage, collards and greens. The recommended material is Malathion. I tried it but didn't get the response I wanted. There is an old material that is safe to use, but may be difficult to buy that gave me excellent control. It's called sabadilla dust. If you can find this material, you may want to try it next year.

There's been some concern about aphid control on small grain. Di-Syston 15% granular has label clearance at 1# actual per acre or 6.7 pounds per acre of the 15% material. This is applied by drilling or broadcasting at planting time. It may be applied twice during the season but not closer than 60 days to harvest. Do not graze or cut as forage within 30 days of treatment.

My concern in applying at planting time is that it may dissapate before a significant aphid build-up occurs.

Aphids are important carriers of small grain disease; particularly barley yellow dwarf. It may be that you will want to wait until the aphid population builds up and then broadcast. Di-Syston or treat with Malathion. Malathion doesn't give the best response during periods of low temperature; therefore; Di-Syston may be a good substitute.

It's time to sow wheat. Unfortunately we don't have a great wheat variety to recommend this year. All varieties have their limitations.

Blueboy is no longer recommended for the Piedmont. Four varieties are recommended: Arthur, Abe, Coker 6815 and McNair 4823. At the Charlotte Court House Station this year McNair 4823 was the top variety with 57 bushels. Next was Arthur with 53 bushels.

Farm Bureau Passes Resolutions

The Resolutions Committee of the Appomattox Farm Bureau passed three new resolutions at Saturday's annual membership meeting.

The bureau urges the support of the Federal Estate Tax Bill (House Bill 15435) introduced by Rep. Burleson of Texas.

The bureau also endorsed the Maryland Johnson Grass Control law and urges that Virginia adopt the law.

The committee requests support in asking that the Registrar's Office Open To Vote Absentee Ballots

Mrs. Emma Lemon, General Registrar for the County of Appomattox, will be in her office located on the third floor of the Court House Building each week day from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Saturday, October 26th, and Saturday, November 2nd, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. for the purpose of voting persons by absentee ballot for the election to be held on November 5, 1974. The Registrar's books were closed for registration on October 5, 1974 in accordance with state law and will reopen on November 6, 1974, the day after the election.

Holiday

Monday, October 14, will be observed as a holiday at all postal installations.

There will be no window service at the Appomattox and Pamplin Post Offices and no delivery on the rural routes. No mail will be received or dispatched at Pamplin, but there will be one trip by Star Route from Lynchburg to Appomattox. Mail will be received at 6: a.m. and distributed to town boxes. The only dispatch of the day will be made at 9: a.m. Special delivery mail will be delivered within the town delivery limits (one mile).

Appomattox County Board of Supervisors be increased to five members, with three members being elected during a midterm election in order to give staggered representation and that the Board of Supervisors enact an ordinance to implement the land use taxation program at the earliest possible date.

"October Porkfest" is on! All during this month the National Pork Council and state affiliates will be carrying out promotional activities designed to inform more than 150 million American consumers about modern, improved pork.

More than 180 major daily newspapers throughout the U.S. will carry provocative fresh pork advertisements during October Porkfest Month reaching an estimated 60 per cent of all adult women in the top 100 metropolitan markets. These markets represent about 85 per cent of all food store sales.

Daytime network TV programs on which the ads will appear are "Lets Make A Deal", "The Price is Right," "Hollywood Squares" and "Match Game."

The program is being funded through the "Nickels for Profit" fund contributed by hog producers as an investment in their industry.

Pork remains very plentiful in the meat trade. Consumers should remember that wholesale prices for pork loins is about 76 cents per pound. This is where your pork chops come from. So check your local supermarket and see where inflation starts. The producers and packers are doing their part, but are the retailers. You be the judge.

SHARON COLEMAN, 11-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Coleman of Route 3, Appomattox was surprised by a phone call from Donnie Osmond, leader of the Osmond Brothers, a rock singing group. Osmond promised to send Sharon a picture of the group. Sharon said she had written a letter several months ago but really did not expect a phone call. The call, which lasted about three minutes, came from Salt Lake City, Utah where the Osmonds were appearing last Thursday.

Wins First Place

For several years Charlie Brinkley of Evergreen has enjoyed participating in rodeo events throughout the state. On Friday night, October 4th, Charlie won first place in bare-back bronco riding at Virginia Beach when he participated in the "Western Riders Showcase."

Charlie says that even though this is a hobby he really enjoys . . . it is now beginning to pay off! His award was a cash prize.
